BRITISH DRIVE TO FLORENCE

Suburbs South of Arno River Occupied by Eighth Army.

By The Associated Press

ROME, Aug. 5—Eighth army troops have completed occupation of the suburbs of Florence south of the Arno river and, bearing down along a 25-mile sector, are pressing the enemy back against the stream on both sides of the city, allied headquarters said today.

Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's command announced that "although the enemy proclaimed that he regards Florence as an open city, he has seen fit to use it for his military traffic, and when outfought south of the city has blown up all bridges except the historic Ponte Vecchio."

There were no reports today indicating actual fighting within the portions of Florence reached by Eighth army units.

All along the south side of the Arno, British, Indian, New Zealand and South African forces crushed the Nazis back and threatened to cut the weakening defenders into small formations.

Two and a half miles east of Florence, a British division punched through Bango A Ripoli to within 1,000 yards of the Arno's banks, while the enemy still held high ground to the east.

To oppose possible Eighth army crossings on either side of Florence, the Germans have massed artillery on the heights around Fiesole, three miles to the northeast.

A message reaching the allied command from the Florence National Committee of Liberation said the Germans had evacuated inhabitants of the city from the entire north bank.

In the course of shoving the enemy from the few footholds left below the Arno river, Indian troops enlarged their bridgehead over the Pesa river and reached Scandicci, just west of Florence.

Actor and Bandman in Battle on Balcony

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 5—Band Leader Tommy Dorsey and Actor Jon Hall participated early today in a balcony scene that attracted scores of attendants, including police and sheriff's officers.

Neighbors, who witnessed the moonlit performance in night attire topped by dressing gowns, told officers that after a heated exchange of words, Dorsey stripped to his waist, removed his glasses and invited Hall to join him on the balcony of the Dorsey apartment.

The officers reported that in the ensuing hostilities, Hall's head was cut open when he fell against a flower pot and Dorsey suffered a bloody nose and skinned knuckles.

CALL GUARD TO PHILADELPHIA

State Troops Back Army Effort To Restore Bus and Trolley Service.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5 — The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin said today that two regiments of U. S. Army troop are being speeded to Philadelphia to break Philadelphia's five-day transportation tieup, which has caused race violence and slashed war production.

• • •

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5 — Three regiments of the Pennsylvania state guard, fully armed, were mobilized today as 6,000 Philadelphia transit strikers again defied U. S. army orders to end a five-day work stoppage marked by racial disorders and threats of violence against returning workers.

A high source said the guard units would be used "only to maintain order" in connection with the army's efforts to restore bus, trolley, subway and subway-elevated service in the nation's second largest arsenal.

Meanwhile a showdown appeared imminent between the strikers and the army, which seized the lines Thursday night by order of President Roosevelt. Arrests were indicated.

The Philadelphia army public relations section said it could not comment on the mobilization, which affected units stationed as far away as Altoona, 234 miles west of here.

The army disclosed its next step in the dispute, stemming from white workers' opposition to the upgrading of Negro transit employes, would be in cooperation with the department of justice.

In Washington, James P. McGranery, assistant to the attorney general, said flatly that persons who obstructed a return to work since the army took over the Philadelphia Transportation Co. were "very likely to be arrested—and soon."

Maj. Gen. Philip Hayes war department representative in charge of the company, conferred here for two hours last night with de-

New Comic Page Feature Coming

Another new feature, one of the most popular of its kind with newspaper readers, will be added to The Star's comic page group Monday. It is the daily two-column sketch by H. T. Webster, who ranks well toward the top among artists portraying the humorous phases of life and the general run of people who make up the rank and file, even as you and I.

Mr. Webster is the creator of Casper Milquetoast, otherwise known as "The Timid Soul," who appears frequently in these daily cartoons. And there are many others, equally human and amusing.

Mr. Webster's sketches will take the place of "Just Kids," which is appearing for the last time on the comic page today.

JAP'S EMPIRE RIPS APART AT FOUR PLACES

Tokyo Sets Up New War Council As Reverses Mount on Battle Fronts.

By The Associated Press

Japan's conquest-swollen empire was ripping badly at the seams in India, Burma, the Marianas and New Guinea today as fresh battlefront reverses forced her to set up a new supreme war council.

The Japanese announced that U. S. P-38 Lightnings raided southern Manchuria Friday, that strong formations of American planes bombed the Bonin and Kazan islands the same day, and that powerful enemy task force of at least 10 vessels, including cruisers and destroyers, is assembled on the sea in the Chichi Jima (Bonin) area."

The Lightnings reportedly struck the Mukden industrial area recently raided by Superfortresses. Chichi Jima was reported raided three times Friday, and Iwo Jima, in the Kazan group, twice. The islands are about halfway between the Marianas and Japan.

Council Abolished

Tokyo's radio announced today the Japanese government had abolished its liaison council, present link with imperial headquarters, and had established "with imperial sanction" a supreme council "to map out a basic policy for directing the war, and to obtain greater harmony between the fighting and civil services."

"An adjustment leading to greater harmony between the supreme command and governmental affairs is more important than any other matter," explained Japan's premier, Kuniaki Koiso.

"All along the Dutch New Guinea north coast the Japanese are 'in full retreat,'" Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today. He said the Japanese Second army, charged with the defense of Dutch New Guinea, yielding a 700-mile sweep of coastal area without a fight was withdrawing toward the south and west "in hope of ultimate evacuation from western New Guinea. The enemy's losses cannot fail to be calamitous."

On Guam, Americans captured Mt. Barrigado, a new height from which to shell 7,000 or more Japanese pinned into the north end of the island. U. S. carrier planes attacked the trapped garrison with bombs and rockets, but gains were slight.

American and Chinese troops celebrated the capture of Myitkyina in northern Burma—Tokyo said the Japanese garrison there was still fighting—and predicted the early fall to Chinese attackers of Tengchung, main Japanese base.

TWO MARION MEN OVERCOME BY HEAT

Both Taken To City Hospital; Conditions Not Serious.

Two Marion workers, the city's first heat prostration victims of the summer reported by City hospital, were admitted there within 24 hours yesterday and early today.

Russell Camm of 415 Scranton avenue, an employe of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. plant who works on the night shift, was overcome while off work yesterday as he was unloading wood about 10 a. m. at the L. P. Albert home on Thompson street. He had brought a load of wood in a trailer to his home where he unloaded some of it then went to the Albert home to deliver the remainder. He fell from the top of the load, a distance of three or four feet, and was discovered by Mrs. Albert. Mrs. Camm was summoned and took him in their automobile to the hospital. Having not felt well the first part of the week, Mr. Camm had not gone to work at the Steam Shovel Co. plant until Thursday night, Mrs. Camm said. After treatment at the hospital he was returned to his home last night and his condition was reported by the attending physician as good today.

Joseph Hall of North Prospect street was admitted to City hospital about 2:30 a. m. today after he was overcome by heat while at work at the roundhouse of the Erie railroad where he is employed as a repair man. His condition was reported as fairly good. He was taken to the hospital in the L. A. Axe and Son ambulance.

NAZI GENERAL DESERTS TO REDS. German general identified as George C. Lindemann, above commander of all axis forces in the Baltics, has gone over to the Russians, according to a German radio admission. An estimated 300,000 officers and men in Lindemann's legions were trapped earlier when the Reds scored a break-through to the Baltic sea coast. (International Soundphoto.)

47 Killed and 32 Hurt As 2 Trains Collide in Georgia

Victims Are Negro Laborers Returning to Homes in Alabama for Week-End; Broken Rail Blamed.

By The Associated Press

STOCKTON, Ga., Aug. 5—A west bound Atlantic Coast Line passenger train crashed into the locomotive of a by-passed freight on a siding near here early today, killing at least 47 persons, mostly railway laborers going home for the week-end to Alabama.

H. L. Tomlinson, station agent for the railroad, said at least 47 bodies had been found. Nearly all the dead, he said were Negroes, members of a work gang which had been at Doctortown, Ga. Tomlinson said more bodies were in the wreckage. At least 32 were injured.

Turner Rockwell, managing editor of the Valdosta Times, who reached the scene shortly after the crash, said two passenger cars were demolished and two others damaged.

Rockwell said an apparent rail failure hurled the passenger train into the freight as it passed the siding. The passenger cars struck the engine of the freight, one splitting lengthwise. It was in the car that most of the dead were found, Rockwell said.

The car immediately behind that which split lengthwise was demolished, and another was crumpled by the impact.

"When I went to the scene, shortly after it happened, bodies were lying sprawled in broken shapes," Rockwell said. It was impossible to make an accurate count of the dead. Some were near the engine of the freight train, evidently being jerked out of the car that was sliced in two. One body was thrown fifty feet clear of the wreckage.

"Three or four" passenger cars and a baggage car were derailed, Agent Tomlinson said, adding that work of clearing the track probably would take all day. The wreck occurred a few minutes after midnight.

The agent said a broken rail apparently threw the passenger train into the siding on which the freight had pulled. The fireman of the freight was scalded, Tomlinson reported.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Aug. 5—C. G. Sibley, general manager of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, said here today that 47 persons, all Negro laborers, were killed and 32 were injured when several cars of Westbound A. C. L. passenger train No. 57 from Waycross, Ga., to Montgomery, Ala., crashed into a freight train on a siding at Stockton, Ga.

Sibley said six cars were derailed—a sleeper, one coach with passengers and three unoccupied coaches, and a hospital car. None of the passengers in the sleeper were injured. Four persons in the hospital car were slightly injured.

The wreck, Sibley said, was caused by a broken rail.

Parents Get Word from Son, Prisoner of Japs 2½ Years

A card received yesterday from their son, Pfc. Homer Dutt, interned in Jap prison camp No. 1 on the Philippine Islands for the last two and one-half years, notified his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Dutt of 306 Hane avenue that his health is "good" and that he has received word from home. This was the first news they had received from their son since Dec. 13, last year.

Pfc. Dutt, who was 29 years old July 29, was with the 192nd Tank Battalion, went into service Jan. 27, 1941 and the following November landed with the troops in the Philippines. He was home last in October 1941. He trained at Fort Knox, Ky., and in Louisiana, and prior to going into service was employed with the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

BELOW ESTIMATES

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ADVANCED COMMAND POST, Aug. 5—Maj. Gen. A. W. Kennet, chief of the medical corps in Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's command, said today that allied casualties of the invasion of France to date had been 30 per cent under the anticipated figure. There has been an extremely low rate of mortality among the wounded, he added.

Magazines, Playing Cards And Fruit Big Needs at Canteen

The magazine racks and boxes that hold the playing cards at the Marion Canteen for service men and women are empty, a check of the supplies this week disclosed. It's a long and hot trek over the country by train these days and magazines and playing cards help immeasurably to while away hundreds of miles, the men tell the canteen workers when they hand the baskets onto the trains.

Fiction, detective stories, joke books, in fact just any kind of reading material that might prove entertaining helps out in the magazine line, the canteen workers say, and as for the playing cards, they don't have to be new ones; anything that is in fairly good shape and a full deck will answer the purpose.

The need for refreshments such as apples, candy, cigarets and other refreshments that go into the baskets is heavy these days as more and more service men and women are going through the city each day. Also trains are heavier and more frequent. Now that the apples and other fruit are ripening, donations also are most acceptable, the canteen workers state.

Letters and cards continue to arrive at the canteen expressing appreciation of the baskets. A recent visitor at the canteen was a soldier stationed with the 333rd Engineers here two years ago, who called to bring greetings from other men in the outfit, now overseas. The men often talk about the many kindnesses extended them while here, he said and told the canteen workers the men all planned a reunion in Marion when the war is over.

SOVIET TROOPS DRIVE ACROSS NAZI BORDER

East Prussia Invaded; Battle for Warsaw Still Raging Furiously.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 5—The Russians have carried the ground war to German soil for the first time since the conflict started by penetrating the northeastern part of East Prussia, Berlin reports indicated today, and Moscow dispatches said "fires are raging in East Prussian towns which now are objectives of Red army infantry attacks."

The German high command communique said there was fighting in the Sudauen-Schaaken district." Sudauen is the old name for the eastern part of East Prussia between the Rivers Inster and Angerapp and the Masurian lakes.

While the battle for Warsaw to the south raged inside and out of the old Polish capital, the Red army flung strong cavalry forces across two water barriers in a smashing drive to within 30 miles of Krakow, the last big city stronghold of the Germans barring invasion of German Silesia.

Heavy Fighting

A transocean broadcast from Berlin said "heavy fighting is going on against Soviet formations which have broken through on the east Prussian border north of Wirballen (Virbalis)."

Virballs is a frontier post about a mile from the East Prussian frontier. The village itself is two or three miles from the station on the main railway between Kaunas, former capital of Lithuania, and Konigsberg, largest city of East Prussia.

It is in this area that the Russians have been reported shelling East Prussian territory for several days.

"Smoke floats over German lands and we can smell things burning," said a Pravda eyewitness report published in Moscow which told of burning East Prussian towns.

Moscow dispatches said Gen. Ivan Chernlakhovsky's troops pushing upon East Prussia met bitter resistance in the vicinity of Eydtkuhnen, on the Lithuanian border. Farther north along the Nieman river, a spearhead struck straight into the flank of the remaining German Baltic front, seized Stakal, 48 miles east of Tilsit, and overran 200 towns and villages.

Nazis Dig for Reserves

Scraping for reserves, the Nazi high command brought up troops which had been guarding rail dumps in Tilsit and Konigsberg and threw them into the battle, the Russians said, while heavy forces of Red planes strafed major roads in East Prussia leading to the front.

The struggle for Warsaw continued in undiminished fury.

Inside Warsaw Polish underground forces were believed running low on ammunition.

The German communique acknowledged that the Russians had made new gains below Warsaw, and said fighting was in progress at Warka, 32 miles south of the capital.

Russian forces crossed the Vistula tributaries, the Nida and the Wistoka, gaining strong positions for new attacks from the northeast and the east against Krakow, and were about 75 miles from German Silesia. Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's first White Russian army and Marshal Ivan S. Konev's Ukrainian right flank met in the vicinity of Szczucin on the Vistula for a concerted drive against the southern anchorage of Hitler's defenses of the reich.

The rail junction of Tarnow, linking four lines 45 miles east of Krakow, was outflanked by the Russians, but military reports indicated the advance, averaging 20 miles a day during the week, would slow down at the outer

Germans Have No Fixed Lines Nearer Than Eastern France

By JAMES M. LONG
AP War Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 5—The American armored break out of the Nor[illegible]n beachhead has ripped the western front wide open, and [illegible] aerial observations indicate there is no coherent system [illegible]ed German fortifications short of the Maginot and Siegfried [illegible]

There have been reports for two years now—stemming from Germany by radio and press dis[illegible]es to neutrals—of herculean [illegible] to complete inland cross-[illegible] defense systems dignified [illegible] names as "Hitler," "Von [illegible]" or "Rommel" lines.

[illegible]s yet no evidence they [illegible] nothing more than bubble[illegible]—a wall of paper pro[illegible]e and radio words.

[illegible] those in position to know [illegible]ze that this does not mean [illegible] the Germans cannot make [illegible] strong stand. Somewhere [illegible] the great Seine-Loire triangle, [illegible]s as its inland point, they [illegible] but undoubtedly it will [illegible]e a mobile line of men, tanks, [illegible] and of improvised mine and [illegible]elds—not a Maginot line [illegible] anything like one.

[illegible] fact, Marshal Erwin Rommel or Marshal Rudolf Karl Von Rundstedt, or whoever schemed it all out, appears to have put his eggs all in one basket—a gun-bristling coast.

But the German army, schooled in the military theory of defense by counterattack already has proved adept at a stand without fortifications.

And the German infantryman has proved equally adept at digging in as a last resort—and being laboriously hard to dig out of his hole.

At this moment Jerry is on the run. But he's running at most places behind a dogged suicide stand rearguard crust hoping for time to dig in anew.

Youth Deals with Sin

A Sermonette

By REV. R. W. FAULKNER

Pastor of Calvary Evangelical Church

EVERY normal young person has the urge to be popular. In fact [illegible] desire to be one of the crowd and [illegible] to be liked by others. To [illegible] part in the gang activities of our group frequently [illegible] gang or our [illegible] and are [illegible] a certain type of [illegible] and we [illegible] what can you [illegible] and keep the group to realize the [illegible] One young person shared the following experience which is helpful [illegible] as a guide in showing why that [illegible] which is [illegible] gradually destroying your purity, limiting the development of more good qualities of life that God has created within you and hindering your group from making a worthy contribution to society.

"It just seemed that after our first few nights of fun together we grew tired of singing and playing simple games. Jim was at the piano playing some popular tune. A couple in our group [illegible] to dance. Some of us never had tried it before but the thrill seemed to satisfy a basic urge.

Soon we found ourselves gathering together in couples—a sort of date affair—after a show we would go to one of our homes where we would turn on the radio and dance for a while, then turn the lights low and sit around and neck. In a few weeks all of us were getting more intimate and petting was common among us. We decided to attend a public dance as a group. We were having a good time together until one of the boys met an older acquaintance who invited the fellows out to his car where he offered us a drink. We tasted the stuff but one of the boys got too much and he got sick. The fun was curbed for a while that evening. In a few months, however, it was common for us all to drink a little, smoke a little and to indulge in too intimate relations with our dates. Then . . ."

WAIT a minute! You have just now looked in on the private life of a young friend. How would you like to have someone look in on yours? Well, it won't be necessary, but don't you think it only fair now, before you read further, to turn the table and take a glimpse at your own life? Just stop reading for a few minutes and explain to yourself how you got to doing the things you now do. Sort of interesting, isn't it, to discover that you have been imitating the behavior of those around you? By your very nature you are suggestible and tend to do what you see other people doing. You just seemed to unconsciously slip into those questionable practices which your group popularized from time to time. Did you note the way your mind [illegible] in getting you to [illegible] or put off your [illegible] as a joke or to say [illegible] because it was an [illegible] practice of the group? Remember when your conscience nudged you and you felt guilty at a party? You suggested to yourself, "They all do it" or you talked with the person or persons and laughed and [illegible] and likely passed off as [illegible] you thought you might have gone too far? Or the fact of a group agreed to sanction your conduct and for the time being you had eased your sense of guilt? You unconsciously allowed the group to have priority rights over your character and personality. The sanction of the group was more important to you than the sanction of God.

We all want social approval. We are social beings. Next to the power of the Holy Spirit, social environment is the most potent force at work in molding character. We are likely to place social approval first in our weighing of values because it seems so real and practical. The group is powerful for its members can laugh you to scorn, ignore you or make you feel like a criminal for not conforming to their pattern of conduct. They can turn on the heat and burn you up in a minute, but God's . . . well . . . he seems so far off and you figure you can "get by" without his approval. I wonder, can you? Can you share in popular sin and "get by"?

CONSIDER first your own character and personality. When you fail to live up to the best that is within you, even though all the rest are failing too, you personally fail to realize all the potential qualities of life which God in his creative love has placed within you. You are like a six cylinder car that is only running on three. Nothing much wrong as you look at the outside but inside you are allowing potential powers of life to rust and rot. You sin against yourself as you choose to be less than what God intended you to be. Your penalty is just the fact that you have your distorted, snarled up, shrunken, lesser-self on your hands and you have to live with yourself day after day, year after year, and forever.

Then, too, think of our influence upon the lives of others. What you do will either lift or lower your fellowmen. Your sanction of a popular sin may not hurt you as much as it will your friends who may be caught up in such a way that even your own group will let them down. . . . Would you want to be guilty of murdering the character and personalities of your friends?

Think how God must feel when he looks at you with all your potential Christ-likeness and finds not the spirit of Christ in you. God awaits your prayerful fellowship but you have exchanged friendship with God for friendship with your group. God longs for you fellowship. You need fellowship with God. You prefer social approval. Can you have both?

Let's see how it worked out for our young friend as he continues his testimony: "It happened that a boy who worked next to me invited me to Sunday school. I accepted and he stopped for me. Soon I accepted another invitation to attend a youth meeting. One night I stayed for church heard words like this—'God loves you.' 'Jesus died for you.' 'Confess your sins and turn from your wicked ways.' 'Be not deceived. God is not mocked, for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption.' 'The wages of sin is death.' 'You cannot sin and get by with it in a moral universe governed by God . . . judgment is certain,' etc. Before I was aware of what I was doing I found myself confessing my sins to God and asking Him to forgive me. There came to me a sense of cleanliness within and the assurance that all the past sin was forgiven. The first few soiled pages in my book of life had been made whiter than snow. I now had a clean record in the eyes of God and could begin life anew. That night was the beginning of a great adventure. I set out to work with God. I wanted his approval more than anything else. I eventually had the joy and satisfaction of helping God lead six of my friends into his Kingdom. We now find social approval in our Christian group when we do the right things and we have the additional joy of know that God approves our conduct. Life is livable, purposeful, abundant and joyful."

You can do it too. See yourself as you really are in the light of what God expects of you. Measure your life by the life of Christ and make a notation of your failures to measure up. Confess your sin to God and ask for forgiveness. Turn from your sinful ways and adventure in the way of Christ. Align yourself with a Christian group in your community. You are not only molded by the group but you can help mold the group. By the grace of God you can popularize the best in life. You can conquer the most popular sin, regardless of what it is, through Jesus Christ who is the most popular person among Christian youth. "We are more than conquerors through Him Who loved us."

BUCYRUS RESTRICTS LAWN SPRINKLING

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Aug. 5—Restrictions were placed on the use of city water in Bucyrus today as City Waterworks Superintendent Roy Riley warned that only by careful use could the present supply reach through the month.

Consumers have been requested to suspend all sprinkling and garden watering and cut their water use at least 30 per cent to conserve the supply until there is additional rain.

Recognized as the dryest month in the year, August is expected to bring little relief from the present drouth.

OPA Grants Boost in Potato Prices

Adverse weather conditions affecting the potato crop, has resulted in increasing base prices 90c per hundred weight in all New England States, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky, OPA official announced today.

As a result of the increased allowance to growers, consumers will have to pay about 6 cents more per five pound unit.

OPA is required to adjust prices for fresh fruits and vegetables to make allowance for substantial reduction in merchantable crop yields, unusual increases in costs of production, and other factors which result from hazards.

MT. GILEAD PILOT GETS THERE DESPITE TROUBLE

Lt. Richard Miracle "Just Made It" on Bombing Mission.

When A-20 Havocs from a Ninth Air Force base bombed a strategic target in support of Allied ground troops in France recently, 1st Lt. Richard V. Miracle, 25, son of Mr. H. D. Miracle of 181 East Union street, Mt. Gilead, just made it. That is to say, he didn't have any serious difficulty either going or coming, but the decrease in fuel pressure in one of his engines of his twin-motored Havoc, "Stardust," slowed his speed so much that he was still one fourth of a mile away from the target when he heard the order over the interphone, "Open bomb bay doors," according to word from his headquarters.

Working furiously with his instruments, he switched gas tanks. For a minute, the prop continued to windmill uselessly and then the engine started operating again. Again, it cut out. Juggling his throttle, Lt. Miracle succeeded in starting the dead engine again and raced ahead to catch his flight ten seconds before the other pilots dropped their bombs. When they dropped, Lt. Miracle dropped his explosive pellets with them.

A graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., with the class of June, 1943, Lt. Miracle has completed 41 operational bombing missions over enemy territory. He holds the Air Medal with seven Oak Leaf Clusters.

SHRINE PILGRIMAGE TO OPEN AT CAREY

Special to The Star

CAREY—From August 6 to 15, a novena of devotions will be held at the Shrine church of Our Lady of Consolation, in honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary. On weekday mornings the masses will be read at 7 and 8:15 o'clock and at 2:30 p. m. confraternity prayers will be recited.

Unless war conditions change their expectations, many pilgrims will come from far and near to render homage to the Blessed Mother Mary. On Sundays, Aug. 6 and 13, masses will be read at 6:15, 8:00, 10:30 and 12:00 o'clock.

The vigil of the feast Aug. 14, will include a solemn procession to the Shrine park, in which the Most Reverend Karl J. Alter, Bishop of Toledo will take part.

It was in 1875 that the devotions to Our Lady of Consolation was established in Carey. Father Gloden, then pastor here, had a replica of the famous Image of Mary, Consoler of the Afflicted, brought from Europe. On May 24, 1875 a company of over a thousand persons, went in procession with the Image over the 7 miles from Berwick to Carey. Since 1912 the shrine has been in charge of the Franciscan Fathers, Friars Minor Conventual. In 1925 the new Shrine church was dedicated. Each year thousands of pilgrims visit the shrine and many receive singular favors and blessings. In testimony of their cure from bodily afflictions of different kinds, many pilgrims have left crutches, braces, canes, etc., at the shrine.

Marion County Near Top In Ohio's Fifth War Loan List

Marion county's Fifth War Loan purchases exceeded the county quota by [illegible] per cent, one of only [illegible] counties in the entire state, the Marion County War Finance committee reported today after receiving final percentage reports from the federal reserve bank headquarters in Cleveland.

The county's quota was [illegible] amounting to [illegible] per cent of its quota was subscribed in War Bonds during the drive, $3,365,000 of which was subscribed only by individuals. The remainder was made up by banks, insurance companies and business firms. Individuals in Marion county bought [illegible] per cent of their Fifth War Bond quota.

The county's quota was based only on percentages and not on the total dollar value. Actually, Marion county's 104 per cent of its $917,000 E bond quota means that its sales of bonds to individuals totaled 180.4 per cent of the quota for individuals.

War Finance Committee officials said they were highly pleased with the results of the drive, and that [illegible] was made and plans in response were made the good know the possible.

Percentage figures for other counties nearby, as listed in the federal report, follow:

Crawford—90.7 per cent of E quota, 84 per cent of individual quota, 179.5 per cent of overall quota.

Delaware—93 per cent of E quota, 125 per cent of individual quota, 133.5 per cent of overall quota.

Hardin—113.4 per cent of E quota, 153.9 per cent of individual quota, 138 per cent of overall quota.

Morrow—112.4 per cent of E quota, 123 per cent of individual quota, 116 per cent of overall quota.

Union—106 per cent of E quota, 137.9 per cent of individual quota, 124.5 per cent of overall quota.

Wyandot—134.7 per cent of E quota, 127.3 per cent of individual quota, 176.3 per cent of overall quota.

Richland—110.5 per cent of E quota, 122.2 per cent of individual quota, 136.5 per cent of overall quota.

Circus Fans Get Rain Checks When Weather Is Bad

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Aug. 5—President Robert Ringling of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus has a "rain-proof" problem, now that "The Greatest Show on Earth" is without its canvas canopy.

The circus showed for the first time yesterday, after the "big top" lost July 6 in the Hartford, Conn., fire, total to 167 persons.

"Now that we are under the blue heavens, we seem to be comparable to baseball clubs," said Ringling after the initial appearance in Akron's rubber bowl.

Major league ball clubs issue rain checks after four innings if the home team is trailing. If the host club is ahead, it's a complete game.

"We're going along with that set-up," said Ringling. "We have 22 displays. If we're rained out before half are completed, I believe it should call for a rain-check."

Silk-hatted Fred Bradna, 72-year-old ringmaster, placed his personal seal of approval on performances without the "big top."

"Impressive in the day time and magnificent under artificial lights," declared the picturesque maestro. "The circus attracted approximately 9,000 to Akron's stadium last night and about 2,000 yesterday afternoon."

George W. Smith, circus general manager, said plans called for a return to "the big top" next season.

A. It is impossible to say what might be wrong with your linden tree with such meager information. There is a possibility that when you planted it, you did not wrap the trunk with burlap or heavy paper from the ground up to the branches and that between borers and sun scald a considerable part of the bark, particularly on the south and west sides, has been killed. This would naturally weaken any tree. There is nothing that can be done for this now.

Q. I am writing and sending a leaf from some maple trees I have in my yard. Last year the tree had this same thing on them and this year they are worse than last year. Is there some effective spray or will I have to have the trees destroyed?

A. Your maple tree is infested with the maple bladder gall. This is produced by a tiny spider-like insect called a mite. The recommendation for control is to spray with lime sulphur just after or during the blossoming period. For this you would have to follow instructions on the container for using the material as a summer spray. These galls do little harm although they make the tree unattractive.

Q. I have a small home with rather extensive grounds, in the country. Can you give me the name of a book that will help me plan shrubbery and flower garden arrangement?

A. Many home owners find they get a lot of fun out of planting their own home grounds. First, I would suggest you start off with the Home Beautification Bulletin, Ohio State University, which you can secure from your county agricultural agent. If you wish more information than this, I would recommend one of the following books. The Art of Home Landscape, M. E. Bottomley. Planning and Planting the Home Garden, Pauline Murray. Garden Planing and Building, H. Stuart Ortloff and H. B. Raymore. Planning and Planting Your Own Place, Louis Van De Boe.

Storm Signals in Philadelphia

HITLER and his last-ditch Nazis will take hope from the transportation tie-up and accompanying riots in Philadelphia—and some of the hope they take will be legitimate.

The things that have happened in that traditionally sedate city are storm signals. When transportation workers walk out on an unauthorized strike over so trivial a provocation as the upgrading of Negro workers, when a great city is paralyzed and its population terrorized by rumbling threats of race riots, when civil disorder grows so serious that appeals must be taken to the chief executive for military action—Hitler has a right to hope.

Germany and Japan have one last chance in the war. The Allies may fall to fighting one another, or in the United States, which is the key to their war effort, civilian discipline may crumble. Naturally, all Americans can be sure those things won't happen, because they are confident of their national strength. The Germans and Japanese, having no confidence, may be expected to jump at what looks like proof that they have sized up the situation correctly and the United States is coming apart at the seams. We cannot condemn them for reaching that conclusion from the circumstantial evidence. If we heard that Hamburg was paralyzed by insurrection and riot at this stage in the war, it would be clinching evidence that Germany was about to collapse from within.

Still Solid

THE Gallup poll, busy at its quadrennial task of telling voters how they are going to vote, reports that the deep south is still solidly Democratic, which surprises no one. But the poll also finds that in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Texas Mr. Roosevelt's percentage as of July 27 would have been somewhat less than his percentage as of election day four years ago. The defection ranges from a drop of 12 per cent in Mississippi to a mere 1 per cent in Arkansas and Georgia—an average of approximately 6 per cent for the eight states.

Since the average solidity of the same states in 1940 was 85 per cent, it is evident that if it were to drop 6 percentage points every four years, the solid south would cease to be solid on or about 1970, barring unforeseen miracles. At that time, the two-party system would have been instituted in the deep south and its 90-odd electoral votes would no longer be sewed up in advance. The prospect is only remotely encouraging, but it explains why, every four years, there is talk among politicos in the north about the possibility that this election may be the one that will make the difference. No doubt in the south, the same vague hope is entertained about some day being able to pry Vermont out of the Republican column.

Casualties Are Never Light

UP and down the quiet streets of this country and along the country roads, the homes of America are paying the price of D-day in Europe. Casualty lists are catching up at last to the grim events which began early last June in Normandy. They are long and growing longer.

Casualties are never light. The war and navy departments should never use the expression. Newspapers and radio should shun it. If the Germans could be driven out of France with the loss of only one life, that still would be the supreme loss for the mother, wife or sweetheart who had to bear the grief of shattered hopes.

The people were warned that the price would be heavy; they knew it. The men who landed on the beaches knew what a new front was going to mean; they had plenty of time to think about the danger they faced. They had the example of the air men who had been fighting the enemy for many months. They had the example of their own troops in Italy, Sicily and North Africa. They had the example of Americans in the war against Japan. They—all of us—knew victory could not be won cheaply.

But until the cost of war strikes home, it can only be estimated, not understood. That is happening now, day by day. the secretary of war regrets to announce he died heroically between the crosses row on row. America is not fighting with money and material now, but with thousands of lives. The survivors who pay in sorrow for the sacrifice made by the dead deserve the sympathy of the nation. They alone are qualified to speak of the cost of the war, because they are bearing the ultimate cost. The money can be repaid and the materials replaced, but the lives are gone forever.

Your Navy! Greatest of All

By Hamilton Faron

Associated Press Writer.

WHEN marines and infantrymen waded ashore at Guam, Japanese defenses on the beaches already had been pulverized by naval gunfire. The navy did a job on Saipan, too—and on the beaches of Normandy, Salerno and Sicily.

It's your navy—the American people's navy—the largest fighting fleet ever built. If it could be lined up and its fire control towers all turned to one signal, it could let loose a broadside that almost literally would be heard around the world.

To give you an idea what that would mean—it would take more than 12,000 freight cars to provide the ammunition!

The actual number of the navy's guns is secret, but they literally are numbered by the tens of thousands. Each big battleship has at least nine which fire 12, 14 and 16-inch shells weighing many tons, to say nothing of all the smaller guns.

Secondary batteries are made up for the most part of five-inch guns in dual mounts; new battleships have 20 of these. Other guns on a battleship are numbered by the scores, as they are on cruisers and the more powerful of the hundreds of destroyers.

The dozens of cruisers have 10 major rifles ranging from eight-inch size on heavy cruisers to six-inchers on light cruisers, besides many other guns for anti-aircraft work.

A new class of fighting ship is movin into action, too—the new Alaska class "large cruiser." Officially, little has been said about these slim, fast, deadly fighting craft, but they are expected to compare with Germany's vaunted "pocket battleships."

THE FAST, deadly and "expendable" destroyers and destroyer-escorts can't be counted. These 'tin-cans' are the in-fighters of the fleet. They might be thrown into almost certain loss, if necessary, to land solid blows where they will hurt on enemy armadas. A big job of the many hundreds of destroyers has been beating down enemy attacks upon convoys. They've succeeded.

And the carriers! There again, the navy restricts discussion of actual numbers. It has been disclosed, officially, however, that "more than 50" carriers were in commission at the beginning of the year. Unofficially, it has been permissible to estimate the numbers at 60 or more. Again officially, it has been stated that "more than 100" will be in operation by the end of this year.

Of the flattops, more than a score are big first-line carriers each with more than 80 planes, including bombers, torpedo bombers, fighters, scout planes and utility ships. Rear Admiral Arthur W. Radford, acting deputy chief of naval operations for air, has said it is safe to assume that "most of the 22 big new carriers" are assigned to Task Force 58—the world's most powerful task force—in operation against Japan.

All are heavily armed, with main batteries centered around five and three-inch guns, as well as hundreds of smaller anti-aircraft weapons.

In addition to the big carriers, there are listed officially nine light carriers, carrying better than 45 planes of all types, and assigned to amphibious operations, to protecting bigger carriers in large scale strikes, to joining with planes from the big flattops and adding greater punch to an assault.

Beyond those two classes are the carrier-escorts, ugly little ships built by the dozens to carry better than a score of planes. They have made a name for themselves in convoy operations. Most submarines sunk in the last year have been destroyed by baby flattop fliers.

Of submarines, little is known beyond the frequent bare announcement that they have destroyed another dozen of Japanese ships. The total of ships lost now is nearing 700. Many sinkings may have been accomplished by the three-inch or larger deck guns of the submarines, although most were torpedo attacks.

Numbers of submarines can merely be estimated. Just before Pearl Harbor the American submarine fleet included 11 craft. Since then, vast building programs have been carried out. At one time new submarines were splashing into the water with assembly-line precision. Losses have been comparatively light—a few more than 20—and it is reasonable to assume that several hundred now are in service.

On top of all these fighting ships are the landing ships and the landing craft, numbered literally in the thousands and all carrying guns ranging downward in size from three-inchers. The landing craft range from the ocean-going LSTS (Landing Ships, Tanks) and LSDS (Landing Ships, Dock) to amphibious tractors capable of churning through the water and moving across the beaches and into action as lightly armed tanks.

And that's your navy, traditionally the first line of national defense, and now in wartime the nation's first line of attack.

"Shadow Commander"

Eisenhower Calls "Beedle" Smith Best Chief of Staff.

GEN. WALTER B. SMITH
A Genius At Detail

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press War Correspondent

LONDON—What does it take to be an "ideal chief of staff?" The answer is to be found in Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell "Beedle" Smith, tart-tongued "shadow commander" for the supreme commander of the Allied Expeditionary Forces. For that is how Gen. Dwight D. "Ike" Eisenhower describes his chief of staff. Eisenhower says he knows only four men in the American army capable of being great chiefs of staff and "Beedle," as he calls his assistant, is the best of the four.

That "Ike's" opinion is shared by Gen. Marshall is seen in the fact that Marshall gave "Beedle" the important post as secretary to the combined chiefs of staff and the American Army general staff.

Before Eisenhower requested Smith's assignment to Europe, the chief of staff was almost never heard from in warfare. He is the usual "shadow" for the supreme commander, seeing to it that the commander-in-chief's policies are carried out in detail.

Hard, Often Thankless Job

Eisenhower said the commander's relation to his chief of staff is the same as that of a man who aims his car at a distant objective and the man who drives it, watching out for ruts and dumps coming up before the objective is reached. It's a tough, hard and often thankless task and 999 out of every 1,000 generals would prefer to have an army or corps of their own.

But 46-year-old Gen. Smith has twice turned down appointments of new posts which would have put him on his own—not for lack of desire but out of loyalty to Eisenhower and a determination to see much of his own planning when he enlisted as a private in the last war, was sent to a 90-day officers' training school and went to France with the Fourth Infantry division.

Smith fought with distinction in the Third Battle of the Marne and at Chateau Thierry and was wounded. The stocky, athletic young officer discovered he liked army life, possibly through heredity, as his grandfather fought with the Prussians in the Franco-Prussian war.

A Master Of Detail

Today "Beedle's" greatest asset is his talent for organization. He displays typical Teutonic thoroughness in mastering details and carrying through complex operations with precision and accuracy.

In 1939 Smith had the permanent rank of major but Marshall and Eisenhower found in the blunt-speaking young officer talents to accomplish difficult jobs, and he has risen rapidly.

When Eisenhower was assigned to the European theater in the Spring of 1942 Marshall asked him what he wanted and "Ike" replied: "Beedle". As a result Smith followed Eisenhower in Europe and except for a brief period at the start of the North African operation they have been inseparable ever since.

Smith suffers from stomach ulcers and sometimes is forced to bed with them. When his ulcers are in an uproar the staff treads lightly speaks softly.

"He scares everyone half to death when his ulcers are acting up," is the way one officer puts it.

"Although his is a "shadow job" there is no question of Smith being a personality in his own right. His rapid-fire answers to complicated problems impressed even Churchill who is one of his admirers and calls him "bulldog." Smith signed the armistice with Italy, as Eisenhower's representative.

Calls A Spade A Spade

Blunt and single-minded in devoting all his life to military work, Smith is no "political" general and has never been hesitant to speak his mind on shilly-shallying that hindered military effort.

His brushes with the press sometimes have been caustic and severe but when he decides to say something he usually has twice as much to say as the average staff officer and says it with more clarity and briefness. His hobbies are fishing—rods and flies and work through to the end.

Smith is one of the few non-West Point or, in fact, non-military college men to rise to the rank of lieut. general. He was working in a motor car company—and training a hunting dog. He recently was taken on a salmon fishing expedition in Scotland by the British. He was the only one in the party to catch any fish.

While tough and severe in dealing with subordinates on military problems, he has the reputation of having great charm and he performs many social duties Eisenhower has ruled off his agenda. He is a good story teller and popular in London social circles.

At supreme command headquarters he had a private runway leading to Eisenhower's office and was the only one allowed to break in at any time on the commander-in-chief unannounced.

While Eisenhower is away—which is frequent now—Smith shoulders hundreds of tasks running the supreme command. He usually arrives at his office about 9 a. m. and stays until 6 p. m. and is on call 24 hours a day.

The general married the former Mary Eleanor Cline shortly after World War I. His wife now lives in Washington.

Mistresses of White House

Their Interests and Backgrounds Widely Varied.

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S many outside interests while she has been mistress of the White House have created special interest in the probable attitudes of the several women who might succeed her.

Mrs. Dewey has indicated she would continue to follow her modest pattern of conduct as mistress of the governor's mansion at Albany, doing no writing or speaking.

Mrs. Truman, if her husband won election as vice president and succeeded to the presidency, might continue to take an active interest in his affairs. At present she acts as his secretary, drawing a salary of something more than $4,500 a year from the government.

Up to 20 years ago it was highly exceptional for the wives of Presidents to have had a career outside of the home even before marriage, although Mrs. Fillmore had taught school in a rural district of New York, and Ida Saxton was cashier in her father's bank in Canton when she became betrothed to William McKinley in 1870. The first Mrs. Wilson was a painter, but not a professional one, and the second Mrs. Wilson took no part in the actual management of the jewelry store in Washington which she inherited on the death of her first husband.

FIRST WIFE of a President to be a college graduate was Mrs. Hayes, who was graduated from a small collegiate institution in Cincinnati, no longer in existence. Mrs. Garfield had studied at the Western Reserve Eclectic Institute in Ohio, which later became Hiram college and of which her husband for a time served as president. Mrs. Cleveland, now Mrs. Thomas Preston, was graduated from Wells college in New York in 1885.

Beginning with Mrs. Coolidge in 1923, the White House had mistresses with records of activities outside of the home. Grace Goodhue, an alumnae of University of Vermont, taught in a school for the deaf before marrying Calvin Coolidge. (In 1938 an annual pension of $5,000 was voted by congress for Mrs. Coolidge and for Mrs. Harrison, widow of President Benjamin Harrison). The late Mrs. Hoover, a graduate of Leland Stanford university, helped her husband translate "De Re Metallica," a famous Latin manuscript on mining published in 1556; as mistress of the White House she was active in the affairs of the Girl Scouts of America.

MRS. ROOSEVELT, like her daughter, Mrs. Boettiger, who sometimes acts as White House hostess, did not go to college. Before 1933 she was part owner, and helped to manage, a factory for handicraft furniture and also a girls' school in New York, in which she taught. Her extra-mural activities since moving into the White House defy enumeration.

Mrs. Dewey, also not a college graduate, studied singing before marriage; she sang in church choirs and appeared briefly on the New York stage.

Mrs. Bricker, like Mrs. Truman potentially, a mistress of the White House, is a graduate of Ohio State university and taught high school for a brief period.

Strategic Retreat

By Truman Twill

The victory gardner has called it another year and is making plans for bigger and better vegetables some other time.

With due respect to the necessity for keeping a stiff upper lip till the crops are in, the victory gardener has been taking it on the chin until his upper lip is paralyzed.

This wasn't his year, so why beat about the bush beans? When he was full of zeal and ambition last spring, the cold rains cooled him off and watered him down.

He sneaked out between cloudbursts and jammed in seeds, but the seeds were smarter than he was. They didn't choose to defy the elements and never were heard from again.

When the rain stopped, he jammed in replacements, whereupon it came on to be hot, the ground became like a bride's biscuits and behold . . . the seeds still didn't come up.

Aha, thought the victory gardener, so the weather wants to play rough—and he gave it some of its own medicine by getting out the hose, which would have been all right if all the other victory gardeners hadn't thought of the same thing.

So they made a rule against sprinkling. But there was no rule against beetles, worms, grubs and bugs. It was as big a year as usual for them, except that the quality wasn't up to standard and they had to eat some of the runty stuff that ordinarily they leave for the people.

But the victory gardener can take it. The early peas were ruined, and the late beans never had a chance. The carrots didn't do well, and the radishes were wormy. The tomatoes had the wilt and the cabbages were pinheads.

The beets sulked and the turnips turned out to be all tops. The Swiss chard grew like lettuce, and the lettuce didn't grow at all. The multiplier onions didn't multiply, and the worms got the broccoli. The corn broke out in tassels when it was 14 inches high, and the potatoes caught the blight. But is the victory gardener downhearted? No.

In the seed catalog everything is still two feet high and as big around as a basketball. Don't look for the victory gardener in his garden any more this year. He has made a strategic retreat and will be found on the porch, leafing through his picture book and sighing, "of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these, 'It might have been'." But come next spring he will be back in business in the same old spot—still hoping he can grow a vegetable oyster with a pearl in it.

So They Say—

Should the predatory nations feel that we have not only the equipment required for our defense, but the trained and willing manpower to put it into action, then our days of war will be over. National military training is a part of the picture. —Warren K. Atherton, national commander American Legion.

This war shows us each day how the nations which fight for independence are tied to each other in their common inter-dependence, which will be even greater in the world that is to come with organized peace.—Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

If we can't find a way to make our youngsters more healthy, we shall see our mechanized society go into retrograde instead of advancing.—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director.

Small business is bold and daring. The very large business tends to become conservative and to follow a definite line of procedure. If you want a progressive, free community, keep your little and independent business alive.—Maury Maverick, WPB chairman.

A householder's life everywhere in Germany is one of constant fear that the slightest noise in the house at night may be an escaped prisoner ready to slit our throats if we make a move and betray his presence.—A neutral from Leipzig.

Reds Hurdle Water Barriers To Krakow

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Aug. 5—The Red army hurdled two water barriers today in its smashing drive on Krakow, and advance Soviet cavalry patrols were barely 30 miles from the city—the last big Nazi stronghold barring invasion of German Silesia.

Russian forces surmounted the pair of obstacles presented by the Vistula tributaries, the Nida and Wisloka, and gained strong positions for further attacks from the northeast and east on Krakow.

Fanning out along the Nida, Red army troops were only 75 miles from German Silesia.

The left flank of Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's First White Russian army and the right flank of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's Ukrainian command were linked up in the vicinity of Szczucin, on the Upper Vistula, for a concerted assault on the southern anchorage of Hitler's reich.

Tarnow, a junction of four rail lines 45 miles east of Krakow, was outflanked seriously by the Russian advances.

The Germans, frantically determined to turn Krakow into a defensive hedgehog position, rushed reserves from garrisons in Czechoslovakia.

Military reports indicated the Russian advance through the valley of the Upper Vistula, which reached the dizzy pace of more than 20 miles a day this week, was bound to slow down at the outer defenses of Krakow, but Red army generals were expected to have the city under siege soon.

Rokossovsky's forces still pounded at the eastern gates of Warsaw. It was believed in Moscow that the position there was bettered in the past 24 hours, despite stubborn German resistance and heavy counter-attacks with strong forces of tanks which struck from the north and northeast.

Allied Advance Is Best Solution to Bomb Menace

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Hitler's robot bomb, which is pouring so much death and destruction into London, presents a major problem whose solution seems to depend on the speed with which the western Allies are able to develop their drive towards Paris and Berlin.

There are two apparent ways in which this devilish weapon can be eliminated. One is to destroy the launching platforms—and intensive bombing thus far has failed to turn this trick. The other is to compel the Germans to retreat from the Pas De Calais coast opposite England so far that they will be outside the effective radius of the robot, which is about 150 miles.

Outflank Bomb Bases

That brings us back to the swiftly developing battle of France. When the Allies start to sweep east and northeast from Normandy, they will flank the Nazi coastal forces that are operating the flying bombs. This will be calculated to cause the Hitlerites to withdraw. Indeed it won't be surprising to see the Germans heading for their inner defenses behind the Maginot and Siegfried lines before long, the way their fighting machine is cracking up.

Elimination of the robot bomb thus becomes one of the prime reasons for speed in the Allied offensive—a speed likely to accelerate rapidly now that we have broken out of the Normandy peninsula. This fresh bombardment of civilian London can't be brushed aside lightly with the truism that "the British can take it."

Certainly the British can take it, and the Hitlerites can't help their cause by such tactics. Actually Hitler's new weapon is only making it certain that he and his gang will pay after the war. However, it would be foolish not to recognize the terrible strain which England is enduring.

About a million people, largely women and children, have been evacuated from the capital already. Prime Minister Churchill told us Wednesday that these bombs had killed 4,735 folk and more or less seriously injured 14,000 more. About 17,000 houses have been totally destroyed and some 800,000 damaged.

It must be remembered that London presents the biggest target of its kind in the world for these uncontrolled explosives. One doesn't like to contemplate the effect on this great city if the deluge continues.

Of course, by the time this robot is eliminated the Nazis may be ready to unleash another secret weapon even more terrible. Bigger bombs are said to be in preparation. However, while monster bombs can be built all right, their launching presents technical difficulties which tax the ingenuity of the world's best scientific brains. The hope is that the Nazis won't have time to perfect a new weapon before they have to yell quits.

WOUNDED MARION SOLDIER AND MARION NURSE MEET

Nurse on Duty in Hospital Where Soldier Is Patient.

Pvt. Ralph J. Bateman, 22, was wounded in action in France July 16, according to a telegram received from the war department yesterday by his wife, Mrs. Mary Ellen Bateman of 133 DeWolfe court. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bateman of 133 DeWolfe court. The family had received several letters from Pvt. Bateman saying he had been wounded by a shrapnel fragment which hit his foot. Word also came from Miss Anita Fabian, a nurse stationed at the same hospital in England at which Pvt. Bateman is a patient. Miss Fabian wrote to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Fabian of 381 South Grand avenue saying that Pvt. Bateman was able to be in a wheel chair and was "getting along fine."

Pvt. Bateman entered the armed forces in October, 1942, and had been stationed with an infantry unit overseas since April this year.

DRIVE MADE AGAINST SHEEP KILLING DOGS

Owners of Two Fined After Attacks on Flocks.

Two sheep-killing dogs, responsible for the death of two ewes and injury of three others, landed their owners in a justice of peace court this morning where they paid fines and costs in the amount of $13.60 each, plus a total of $60 for the loss and injury of the sheep.

The men, charged with harboring dogs without licenses, were D. A. Gibbs and H. R. Southward of near Morral. Both plead guilty before Justice O. T. Pierman of Morral, paid their fines and settled for the sheep, which were the property of George Watts of one and one-half miles south of Morral. A white collie, owned by Mr. Gibbs, was turned over to Elmer Ullom, county dog warden, who preferred the charges against the owners, and a brown dog, belonging to Mr. Southward was killed by the owner.

Warden Ullom was summoned to the scene around 9:30 o'clock last night after the dogs were discovered molesting the sheep, pastured on the Roberts farm near the Watts home, by Lester Watts, who lives nearby. The dogs were frightened away when Mr. Watts fired at them with a gun.

Dogs are again raiding sheep flocks, Warden Ullom stated today. Two hounds, owned by William Biers of Fleetwood street, were killed Thursday after they had attacked sheep belonging to Gilbert E. Gilmore of the Richland pike. The dogs were caught after Warden Ullom and Sheriff's Deputies Ross McGinnis and Roy Retterer spent several hours hunting them.

Warden Ullom was called to the Ralph Laucher farm on the Prospect pike this morning where two unlicensed dogs had attacked a flock of chickens, killing several. One of the dogs was killed and the warden expects to catch the other in a short time.

DEWEY ON WAY HOME SEES G.O.P. HARMONY

By The Associated Press

EN ROUTE EAST WITH DEWEY, Aug. 5 — Republican Presidential Nominee Thomas E. Dewey traveled homeward on his first campaign trip today, confident that the political melody composed and played by a St. Louis symphony of G.O.P. governors would linger on until the November election.

Apparently unfatigued by six days of conferences that sometimes extended over 16 continuous hours, the New York governor made rear-platform appearances at Mattoon, Ill., and Terre Haute, Ind., to shake hands with the enthusiastic and the curious who gathered to see his Pawling, N. Y. bound train go through.

He held brief conferences with Ralph Gates, Republican nominee for governor of Indiana; Homer Capehart, U. S. senatorial nominee, and John Lauer, Hoosier G.O.P. chairman, during a stop at Indianapolis late last night, discussing plans with them as he had with the 25 other Republican governors who conferred with him at St. Louis.

Reporting on the Missouri meeting in what he said was his role as "leader of the party," Dewey announced that the controversies between the states and the federal government "have been settled as a matter of national policy by our party and to the complete satisfaction of the governors representing three-fourths of the people."

He said he doubted that Democratic governors could disagree with the 14-point findings of the conference.

partment of justice and federal bureau of investigation officials.

His session with the law officers came after James McMenamin, a strikers' committeeman, notified the city's 6,000 transit operators the strike committee had voted unanimously to continue the "status quo"—or workstopage.

"Be back here tomorrow (Saturday) and ... will have more news for you," McMenamin told strikers assembled at a car barn.

Officials of the CIO United Transport Workers Union, which represents the transit workers, have opposed the strike.

Partial street car and subway-elevated service was restored yesterday, the first under army control, but it collapsed last night when relief operators failed to appear for those who had operated vehicles during the day.

At the 5 p. m. rush hour 31 subway-elevated trains and one street car were in operation, compared with normal service provided by 77 trains, 1,529 street cars and 462 buses.

Army and Navy officials estimated absenteeism resulting from the tie-up had caused a loss of almost 500,000 man-hours in war production up to today.

Bars and liquor stores remained closed throughout the city.

The strife in the early stages of the walkout, resulting in two shootings, hospitalization of at least 14 persons, smashing of 300 windows and the arrest of about 300 persons has dwindled since the Army assumed control on the transit system.

YANKS SMASH ACROSS BRITTANY. In a drive aimed at isolating the vital ports of Brest and St. Nazaire, advanced forces of the American First Army have smashed two-thirds of the way across the base of the Brittany peninsula in France. At the same time, other units advanced more than 20 miles southwest of Rennes, capital of Brittany.

FRANCE

French patriots for months have been blasting German communications and skirmishing with the Nazis. In these battles some 1,400 Germans have been reported killed against a loss of 200 members of the maquis.

South of the area of the British triumph in the Bocage country the Germans still had a salient several miles wide and several miles long jutting up into allied territory between the contested city of Vire and the Orne river, but this is being rapidly battered in by several parallel allied spearheads shoving east from the Avranches area.

The Americans were driving east from Brittany as well as up the peninsula. They captured and passed Fougeres, 30 miles northeast of Rennes, and farther northeast struck to within little more than a mile of Barentan, 24 miles east of Avranches.

No Coordinated Defense

South of Mortain there was no indication of any coordinated German defense line. Light allied patrols had fanned out through most of the 19-mile arc between Fougeres and Barenton, six miles east of Mortain.

Among the towns captured by the British in the Odon-Orne sector in addition to Evrecy and Esquay were Feuguerolles, Amaye, St. Martin, Vieux, Ste. Honorine-Du-Fay, Le Mont and La Lande.

The allies now have overrun virtually half of the northwest France area extending east to Paris and bounded on the north by the Seine river and on the south by the Loire river.

In this area they have left to reduce a block roughly 100 miles wide and 150 miles deep with no natural defense line short of the Seine.

This whole northwest quadrangle roughly is only one-sixth of France, but it and a similar block to the north, being closest to England, were where a majority of the German troops were concentrated.

The drive on Nantes simultaneously was closing in on its twin port of St. Nazaire, only 30 miles to the west. St. Nazaire is France's leading shipbuilding center.

The Loire is the southern boundary of Rommel's defense area. Below that is the bailiwick of Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz's southern army group, which is much smaller than Rommel's initial force.

Marion Soldier In France Suffers Wound

Pvt. Armand E. Jordan has been wounded in action July 10 in France and is now in a hospital in England, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan of 247 Edwards street. In a letter to his parents, Pvt. Jordan informed them that he had been wounded in the arm but was recovering nicely.

A telegram, received last night from the war department also informed the parents of Pvt. Jordan's injuries. It stated that he had suffered shrapnel wounds in the arm, during action in France.

Graduating from Harding High school in 1942, he was employed at the Marion Engineer Depot before entering the service in April, 1943. He has been overseas since April of this year. He was stationed with an infantry unit in France before being hospitalized.

Number Idle in Strikes Shows Decline to 39,000

By The Associated Press

A few bright spits illuminated the nation's somber labor disputes picture today.

The number idle in this country and Canada dropped to about 36,000 from the 39,000 total yesterday. In four cases involving 8,600, the men returned or voted to return to work. Prospects improved for prompt settlement of the Montreal, Que., tram strike and Detroit's only major stoppage.

A new transport tangle developed in Minneapolis where more than 1,000 over-the-road drivers walked out in renewal of a long-standing wage dispute with the Midwest Operators Association.

Also on the darker side were new stoppages at three Illinois war plants, involving 2,900; two new walkouts in the Pittsburgh district, bringing the total of idle there to some 2,700, and a pulp and paper mill tieup of 500 at West Point, Va.

Photographer Sees French Manhandle Friends of Nazis

By PETE CARROLL
Associated Press Photographer

RENNES, FRANCE, Aug. 4—(Delayed)—The 80,000 people of Rennes cheered the American entry into the city today and raged at French collaborationists.

Civilians offered to kill the collaborationists in the streets if we wanted to take pictures.

Tanks were rumbling through the city without stopping, but some jeeps and other vehicles stopped and French women and men hysterically threw flowers, kissed the doughboys and offered them wine.

I met a young men about 20 years old and he offered to show us some French collaborationists. All the Germans had left.

We went down a side street toward a sort of jail and came across a man kneeling in the street with two gendarmes pointing pistols at his head and making him salute the French tricolor.

Down the street came another group dragging an Italian. They were beating him across the head and kicking him. Men taking him away were of the French resistance movement, but some in uniforms were gendarmes.

They would beat him for a while, spit on him and drag him along by the hair. They made him kneel and shout, "Vive La France, Vive De Gaulle, Vive Churchill."

Then they dragged two more collaborationists from the jail. Some one hit one in the face, spreading his nose all over his face, and he started to cry.

The two were then kicked down stairs and lined up against a wall. The French announced they were going to shoot them and we should take pictues. Some of the French had rifles, others pistols.

When we tried to argue, saying the men should be tried first, the French just shouted, "we have been waiting four years for this—they are traitors."

Finally they quieted down and it looked like they would not shoot them at the moment anyway.

A nominating committee for the annual election of officers was named at a meeting of the Old Age Pension Society of Marion County Friday afternoon in the Eagles hall. The program included talks and songs. John Sons, Andy Morgan and Henry Forsythe were appointed to serve as a nominating committee. Porter and Mrs. Loper gave reports on recipients. Rev. Nola West gave a sermon on "God's Last Judgment." Music included songs by the choir, "Jesus Is All the World to Me" and "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder," selections by the Pension quartet, Mrs. Lillian Loper, Mrs. Rose Seiter, Christian Ruth and W. E. Sergent, "Eternity's Night" and "The Great Judgment Morning," duet, "Contented and Drifting" by Rev. West and Miss Doris Caldwell, who played their own guitar accompaniments, and a solo, "Dear Old Picture on the Wall" by Rev. West. Mrs. Loper gave a reading, "What Then?" Rev. West spoke the benediction.

BREAK IN MORALE OF UNIT REVEALED

By The Associated Press

LT. GEN. JOSEPH W. STILWELL'S HEADQUARTERS IN INDIA, Aug. 5—A combination of "ill advised promises" and faulty hospital procedure caused an "almost complete breakdown in morale" in one of the most famous American fighting units, Brig. Gen. Frank Merrill's Marauders, during the siege of Myitkyina, it was announced officially today.

The incident occurred near the end of May, when the American position at the Japanese-held North Burma base admittedly was precarious. Capture of the town was announced yesterday.

An official inquiry by the inspector general's office disclosed that several hundred Marauders were removed from temporary duty while still convalescent, and were returned to active duty. The seriousness of the situation at Myitkyina necessitated "scraping the bottom of the barrel" for manpower the report said.

However, removal of the convalescent soldiers to the battle area was the result of a misunderstanding. The report attaches no blame either to medical officers or combat leaders for deliberately ordering unfit men into line.

For security reasons in connection with the Myitkyina operations the report was withheld until now.

Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell ordered the investigation. He wept openly when he learned his orders that as many able-bodied men as possible be thrown into action had been misinterpreted.

The Marauders are all volunteers. Some saw service in the Solomons and elsewhere in the South Seas. They were recruited as a special unit.

The report said some of them believed as a result of "ill-advised promises" that they were formed for one spectacular and difficult mission in Burma and that thereafter they would be disbanded and sent home.

The report says that by June 1 the Marauders had been in operation about three months and were malaria-ridden, exhausted, and suffering from malnutrition.

Marion Sergeant Is Wounded 2nd Time

Mrs. Ruth Milligan of 207 Patten street received word from the war department Wednesday that her husband, Staff Sgt. Everett F. Milligan, had been slightly wounded in action in Italy on July 14. A letter from her husband recently related that he was confined to a hospital with a severely sprained back suffered when the house which he and some buddies were occupying was shelled by the Germans.

This is the second time Staff Sgt. Milligan has been wounded in action. Some time in June he received a shrapnel wound to his right hand for which he was awarded the Purple Heart.

Staff Sgt. Milligan has been in overseas service since December last year and holds the rating of an expert infantryman. He entered service in Sept. 1940 and trained at Fort Bragg, N. C., Camp Gruber, Okla., and Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

ALLIES GIVE AIR SUPPORT TO TITO

By The Associated Press

BALKAN AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS IN THE MEDITERRANEAN, July 15—Delayed)—A new allied air force has been formed to support Marshal Tito's Yugoslav partisans and other resistance elements in the Balkans, and has begun operations from bases in Yugoslavia, Italy and Africa.

This dispatch apparently was delayed by censorship until today for security reasons.)

Although made up mostly of British and American units, the new Balkan air force also includes Italian, Polish, and Greek squadrons. Yugoslav airmen will be brought in later.

The commanding officer is RAF Air Vice Marshal William Elliott, former air officer commanding at Gibraltar.

Principal bases will be in Italy, but the force will make use of a number of landing strips in the partisan held sections of Yugoslavia. The Balkan air force is part of Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker's Mediterranean allied air force, and functions with the same status as the U. S. 15th and 12th air forces.

Birds Under Fire as They Return to County's Trees

The sycamores on the courthouse grounds have again become a firing line as the birds returned recently to their favorite haunt in the center of the business section.

The first volley in the current round was fired Wednesday night by the courthouse custodians, upon the order of the county commissioners. Shooting into the trees was decided upon some months ago as a last resort to rid the trees of the birds, in the interest of public health and safety. This method will be continued until the birds are driven away again, or until someone offers a better remedy, the commissioners say.

One of the "fatalities" on Wednesday night was the line leading to the police telephone in the courthouse lobby which was severed by a stray shot. The damage was repaired with a minimum of inconvenience to the police.

BOY SCOUTS TO ASK INCREASED BUDGET

Figures Prepared for Community Fund; Growth Cited.

Increasing membership and a five-year program of camp improvement will call for a slightly increased budget for Boy Scouts, a member agency of the Marion Community Foundation, it was decided at a Harding Area Scout executive board meeting held Thursday night.

Calling attention to the fact that membership in the Scouts in the Harding area, including four counties has increased 45 per cent since January, 18 per cent over a goal set to be reached by December, the board outlined a program calling for several hundred dollars more than last year's budget.

There were 30 troops in the Harding area at the beginning of this year and there are now 57, an increase of 18.

Though some of the camp improvement plan for Camp John A. Owens is now under way, Hugh Hay, Harding area executive, said that some of the work included in the budget is becoming urgent. Present needs are for improvement of winter camping facilities and drilling another well on the camp site. A shortage of water is threatened now, Mr. Hay said.

Construction on a swimming pool, part of which is built, has been halted by war shortages of labor and material. Mr. Hay said that the swimming pool construction has been included in a previous budget and the end of the war will find funds ready when materials and labor are again available.

"I can't afford any more tickets to Reno," he said, "and anyway you can't get reservations."

BREAK IN STATE'S HEAT WAVE FORECAST

By The Associated Press

Sweltering Ohioans had reason to cheer today — the weather bureau forecast a break in the heat wave that has gripped the state all week.

"Fair and cooler tonight and Sunday," the weather bureau predicted.

Forecasters said the highest temperature in the central part of the state tomorrow probably would be somewhere between 80 and 85 —and that practically amounts to a cold wave in comparison with the 95s and 96s which have been racked up this week.

Light showers in Toledo, Cleveland, Lima, Cincinnati and many other points late yesterday brought the mercury down several points, but even so Columbus registered a 95, Cleveland 96, Toledo 93 and Cincinnati and Findlay each 92.

In Springfield, Clarence Rowland, extension agent, in reply to a query about rainfall, said: "There is nothing the weather can do now to save the crops in Clark county."

Specialists generally were apprehensive about late corn crops, late cuttings of alfalfa and clover and late garden crops, predicting failures in a great many localities if general rainfall does not occur within the next week.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Ryan of Columbus are parents of a daughter born Thursday morning at Mt. Carmel hospital. The baby has been named Mary Sue. Mrs. Ryan is the former Miss Lois Eikenbary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Eikenbary of East Church street.

Marion Cubs Drop Second Doubleheader To Zanesville 4-3 and 3-2

Locals Take Only One Game in Six Contests Away.

ZANESVILLE, O., Aug. 5—Marion's Cubs fell twice 4 to 3 and 3 to 2, to the Zanesville Dodgers here last night ending the six-game series and marking Marion's final appearance here this season.

After dropping the first game of the series, 4 to 2, the Dodgers took five straight.

Morneweg scored in the first inning of the initial game, but Dodgers' Mikesell and Bauer scored the plate in the Zanesville first and Sloss tied for the locals in the second for a 3 to 1 lead.

Morneweg scored the second run of the ball game in the third in a brief Marion uprising but Bishop was nailed for the Dodgers in the fifth.

Jeske led off with a double in the seventh. The next two men grounded out with Jeske scoring on pinch hitter Kuhlman's base hit. Oley, who had replaced Ostrowski on the mound, struck out to end the ball game.

The second contest was a pitchers battle.

Marion took a one-run lead in the third inning and scored another in the sixth. But, Kuhlman, who had been hit by a pitched ball in the sixth weakened and Zanesville tied it up.

The Cubs were retired in order in the seventh and Dick Bishop hit a double with one away to score Mikesell, who had walked with the winning run.

Beau Jack and Uncle Sam Both Win at Garden

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—Pvt. Beau Jack won the decision, Pvt. Bob Montgomery didn't lose his lightweight title; $35,864,900 in war bonds were sold, and the 15,822 customers, including several hundred wounded veterans, saw a whale of a fight show.

So everyone was happy today about last night's fight card in Madison Square Garden, in which the two G-I guys, both of whom have held the New York version of the lightweight laurels twice, battled through 10 interesting rounds.

The only way for fans to get in was to purchase a bond with maturity value of from $25 to $100,000.

Beau Jack, the ex-bootblack from Augusta, Ga., who lost the title to Montgomery, won it back from him, and then lost to him again, was really a fightin' man as he punched out his decision in the non-title scrap. The referee called it even, but both judges favored the bounding Beau by a wide margin.

Former Bucyrus Grid Star Named to Highway Post

High school football fans of about 15 years ago will remember Robert C. Monnett of Ashland, who this week was appointed acting division engineer for the state highway department for a group of eight counties with headquarters in Ashland, as a former football star who showed first signs of his gridiron prowess while playing as a member of the Bucyrus High school team.

Monnett was an outstanding player for Bucyrus, and several times played in Marion in the course of Marion-Bucyrus games. He was one of the star players of the North Central Ohio Scholastic league while playing with Bucyrus.

He went on from high school to make a gridiron name for himself at Michigan State college, winning All-American rating as a halfback. For five years following his graduation there in 1935, he played with the Green Bay Packers, professional champions for several years.

Monnett is a native of Bucyrus. He joined the highway department in 1939 as assistant engineer, later was promoted to traffic and safety engineer. In 1940 he was made assistant division engineer for the division he now heads. He is 34, is married and has two children.

Counties in the division he heads are Crawford, Erie, Ashland, Loram, Medina, Huron, Richland and Wayne.

NO FANFARE FOR BRICKER

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5—Gov. John W. Bricker wants no special ceremony to notify him that he is the Republican vice presidential nominee. It has been custom for a special committee, named at the national convention, to notify the nominees officially in a formal ceremony. But Bricker, back in his office after attending the conference of Republican governors in St. Louis, said yesterday there would be no such fanfare for him.

50 Years in Baseball Brings Tribute to Mr. McGillicuddy

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5—There are many tender memories in the life of Cornelius McGillicuddy—Connie Mack to you—but possibly the most poignant was last night's celebration at Shibe park in honor of his 50th anniversary as a big league baseball manager.

A crowd of 29,166, including many of the game's top figures and famous players of yesteryear, crowded into the park. To get there they disregarded the city's transit strike that had stopped all subways, street cars and buses.

It was an unforgettable tribute to the 81-year-old, lean leader of the Athletics known to millions of fans throughout the world as a "symbol of sportsmanship, clean living and rugged honesty." President Roosevelt sent a message of congratulations declaring "may your scoreboard continue to wave."

Since he first took the helm of a big league club—at Pittsburgh on Aug. 4, 1894—baseball's "grand old gentleman" was won nine American league pennants with his Athletics and five world titles, as well as winding up in the cellar on many occasions.

Mack has long since, however, become a baseball institution and one of the game's immortals.

Introduced from home plate by Lt. Governor John C. Bell of Pennsylvania, "Mr. Baseball" was presented a gold box with a check for $5,000 as a "token of admiration and affection from the sports fans of America."

"It has been a very happy night for me," Mr. Mack replied.

The big moment of the celebration, put on in a world series atmosphere, was the presentation of Connie's living all-time best players.

The only sour note was the 1-0 defeat the Yankees inflicted on the A's after the festivities were over.

Second Place Battle Costly To Milwaukee

By The Associated Press

That rough-and-tumble scrap between Louisville and Toledo for second place in the American association has ceased to be amusing to the pace-setting Milwaukee Brewers, who have dropped six straight games as a result.

The Colonels last night sailed into the Brewers, still reeling from five straight setbacks by Toledo, and trimmed them 8-1 to climb within three percentage points of the second-spot Mud Hens who had a seven-game winning streak snapped by St. Paul, 15-8.

In other Friday night contests, Columbus snared a doubleheader from Minneapolis, 5-1 and 7-6, while Indianapolis and Kansas City played a 2-2 tie in nine innings before rain washed out their scheduled twin bill.

Public Doubts Robot Bombs Could Span Atlantic Now, Thinks They Might Later

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 5—Rumors that the Nazis are building gigantic robot bombs which they will send hurtling across the vast Atlantic to devastate our East Coast cities are met with widespread skepticism on the part of the American public.

Only two out of every ten questioned in a nationwide survey say they believe such a thing can happen today.

The public is not so skeptical, however, when it comes to considering the possibility that flying bombs will become terrifying weapons in future wars against this country.

Seven in every ten say they believe that in another 25 years flying bombs will be able to span the 3,000 miles separating this continent from Europe. As a matter of fact, six in every ten will admit the possibility within a period of 10 years.

Here is the way voters interviewed, in all states of the Union answered this question:

"A Swedish newspaperman says the Germans are now building robot bombs which can hit cities on our East Coast. Do you believe this is true?"

The answers:

NO	61%
YES	20
UNDECIDED	19

In sharp contrast are the replies to the second question:

"Do you think that in another 25 years such flying bombs will be able to fly across the Atlantic Ocean?" "In another 10 years?"

The replies, showing sentiment on the 25-year and 10-year periods are:

	25 years	10 years
YES	70%	62%
NO	10	19
COULD NOT ANSWER	20	19

CAMP UNDER QUARANTINE

By The Associated Press

PAINESVILLE, O., Aug. 5—Nearly 80 boys in the Boy Scout camp at nearby Madison were under semi-quarantine today after Lake county health officials discovered one of the youths developed symptoms of infantile paralysis. Dr. Malcolm Boyland, county health commissioner, said the ban on visitors excepting parents would remain in force until next Wednesday.

Stormy Ben Chapman Returns to Majors as Dodger Pitcher

By The Associated Press

Ben Chapman, stormy baseball character of a new start today as the newest Brooklyn Dodger starting pitcher in the National. He plans to work as a pitcher with a low earned run percentage and a .500 batting average.

Temperamental Ben from Nashville of the American league in 1936, pitched four times, losing but one game, and played second base and outfield in the remainder of the season from Aaron Ruffing of the New York Yankees, Washington Senators Bonura Red Sox and Cleveland Indians.

It remained for the Piedmont league to bring out Chapy's talents as a pitcher when he went to the mound for the Richmond Colts after a string of doubleheaders disrupted his pitching staff. Dean Branch Rickey lured him away from Dixie.

Chapman wasted little time reporting to the Dodgers. He went to the hill to stop Boston, 9-4, last night in full view of 13,965 of the Flatbush faithful. Fiery Ben limited the Braves to eight safe blows, and set no room for doubt by bashing a double and single, driving in three runs and scoring three more to warm the Ruckey heart and doom Al Javery.

While Chapman was taking the bows, Bucky Walters climbed back on the win wagon, stopping St. Louis for the fifth straight time to hang up his 16th victory after four futile efforts. Cincinnati's margin was 5-3.

Hal Luby's 10th inning homer broke Bill Voiselle and the New York Giants a 4-2 mark as the Phillies' Ken Raffensberger and Frenchy Fitzsimmons' Polo Grounds jinx absorbed their 10th straight as Chicago held fourth place by beating Pittsburgh 4-3.

Connie Mack's 50th anniversary as a manager was spiced as the Yankees, who took a 1-0 decision, Hank Borowy registering his eighth win, drew a night turnout of 29,166.

Chicago's White Sox remained in the first division by trimming Cleveland's Mel Harder, 5-3, as Johnny Niggeling tossed Washington to a 7-5 edge over Boston in the first of two out of three. O'Neil blanked the Sens 4-0 in the finale. Detroit and St. Louis were not scheduled.

SPRINGFIELD DEFEATS FIRST-PLACE NEWARK

Second-place Springfield narrowed its distance from first place in the Ohio State league last night by defeating Newark's top team, 4 to 3.

Middletown and Lima postponed two contests last night on account of rain.

Zanesville's victory over Marion puts Zanesville 12½ games behind first place and Marion 22½ behind.

The line score of last night's Springfield-Newark game follows:

	R.	H.	E.
Springfield	000 103 000—4	11	1
Newark	010 200 000—3	5	1

Goodwin and Daues; Hudson and Frezza.

Urge Employed Pupils To Return To School

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5—Ohio's "back to school" committee shortly will begin a campaign to induce school-age children now employed to return to their classrooms this fall.

Dr. David J. Wiens of Cleveland, chairman of the committee operating under the Ohio State Council of Defense, mapped the campaign to members of the group yesterday.

Miss Hannah L. Protzman of Cleveland, secretary of the group, said approximately one million Ohio citizens will be contacted within the next few weeks through organizations cooperating in the drive.

BING CROSBY AND BARRY FITZGERALD are seen above in "Going My Way" showing tonight through Friday at the Palace Theater.

Bing Crosby in 'Going My Way' Starts Seven-Day Stay at Palace

Barry Fitzgerald Co-Starred with Singer in Role of Priest; Rise Stevens, Boys' Choir in Cast.

Going My Way," starring Bing Crosby and Barry Fitzgerald, is now showing at the Palace theater today through Friday.

Bing plays the part of a young priest attached to a small parish in charge of activities and establish it on a sound financial basis.

As Father "Chuck" O'Malley, he finds it difficult at first to put any of his measures into practice.

Father Fitzgibbon, head of the parish, who is characterized by Barry Fitzgerald, is the kindly, temperate whimsical priest.

Bing poses as assistant to Fitzgerald and unobstrusively injects his method without drawing the suspicion of the lovable Father.

Self-effacing, Bing takes orders, cajoles Fitzgerald, bows to the older man's whims but still manages to organize such an unheard-of thing as a boys' choir, settle a lovers' quarrel, placate the bank president who holds the parish mortgage and sell a song to raise money for a new building.

Also seen in the film are Rise Stevens and the Robert Mitchell Boys' Choir.

Showing today only, will be a stage show and the film, "Johnny Doesn't Live Here Anymore," starring Simone Simon, James Ellison and William Terry.

The story of the movie concerns the adventures of a girl who arrives in overcrowded Washington, and finally succeeds in renting the apartment of a young man who is just leaving for the Marines. Their hour-long association results in love at first sight. He neglects to tell her that he has given keys to his apartment to a dozen of his friends inviting them to use his apartment when in town. Ellison, the first to arrive, is a sailor and also falls for her charms. The climax is reached when Terry arrives home on furlough.

Frankie Carle Band To Be at Cedar Point

Frankie Carle and his band will be at Cedar Point's ballroom the week-end of Aug. 11 and 12. Schooled in the classics, Carle gave up his idea of a fighting career and became a concert pianist at the wish of his parents. In 1939 he went with Horace Heidt's band. He has been playing on a CBS program for months.

Featured with Carle and his orchestra will be Phyllis Lynne, who has sung with Russ Morgan and Vaughn Monroe. Carle has such compositions as "Moonlight Whisper," "Sunrise Serenade," "Lover's Lullaby," and "Falling Leaves" to his credit. He has made more than 250 recordings both alone and with the band, has appeared in practically every state and has played at major army camp and naval bases from coast to coast.

'Manpower' At Ohio Theater

Edward Robinson and Marlene Detrich Starred in Drama.

Now playing through Monday at the Ohio theater is "Manpower," starring Edward G. Robinson, Marlene Dietrich and George Raft.

The film's story concerns the rough and tumble friendship of a couple of danger-loving lineman for a power company in California. They are pals until Marlene comes along in the role of a cafe hostess. Robinson falls in love with her, and despite Raft's efforts to break it up, he marries her.

"Brother Rat," starring Ronald Reagan, Jane Wyman and Priscilla Lane, will be shown Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The theme of the story is life at the Virginia Military Institute, the "West Point of the south." It takes the boys through four years at the school. "Rat" is the V.M.I. parlance for freshman. Morris and Albert get into trouble when their girls come into town for a big baseball game and prom. Albert, secretly wed to one of the girls comes in for most of the headaches when he learns that he is going to be a father. His "Brother Rats" stick by and help him out although they break nearly all the V.M.I. rules in doing so.

Scheduled for seven days starting Friday is "Take It Or Leave It," starring Phil Baker, Marjorie Massow and Eddie Ryan.

A motion picture version of radio's outstanding quiz program, the firm retains Phil Baker in his usual role as the quizmaster with Marjorie and Eddie supplying the romance. The "64 dollar question" has also been retained. Eddie wins this and he goes on from there, each correct answer netting him another 64 dollars.

AUTO STOCKS SELL IN BLOCKS

Other Scattered Leaders Attract Bids but Many Are Neglected.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—Buyers again took on sizable blocks of low-priced motors in today's stock market but, while scattered pivotals attracted modest bids, many issues failed to climb out of the losing rut.

Trends improved selectively after a somewhat easier opening. Single transactions running to several thousand shares helped put the two-hour volume at around 500,000 shares.

In front the greater part of the proceedings were General Motors, Youngstown Sheet, U. S. Steel, General Electric and Allied Chemical. Hesitant were Bethlehem, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, American Telephone, Montgomery Ward, Du Pont and International Harvester.

ITALY

A British force moving along both sides of the upper Arno and well east of Florence captured Rignano, 3½ miles south of the important junction point of Pontassieve.

On the Fifth army's sector along the lower Arno American artillery and mortars pummeled enemy movements and gunposts.

American Marauders and Mitchells carried the burden of yesterday's air attacks, with steady hammering of enemy communications in northern Italy and southeastern France. Thunderbolts made attacks in the Riviera area of the Italo-French frontier.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

FOR AN infinitesimal fraction of a second, I was sure that my father and the F.B.I. man were as accustomed as I was to the news Stebbins, the trailer, had brought. Not one of us moved or spoke. For myself, I felt that my very breath was suspended. Then my father broke the silence, speaking in almost inaudible tones, but with crisp decision.

"Do not hand over that telegram yet, Stebbins," he said. "Wait until I ask for it. But nod and shake your head as I talk, and say 'Yes' and 'No' at intervals, as if I were questioning you about the person who gave it to you. Do you understand?"

Cheeks Redden

The man's cheeks reddened a bit—I wondered if he were resentful of the question—but his voice was imperturbable as he nodded and said "Yes, sir."

"Good! Now, Margaret, and 'Mr. K.'"—I noticed that, like Hunn, he never addressed the F.B.I. men by name, using letters instead—"I cannot look toward you, for I wish to be seen talking only to Stebbins, but I am speaking to you now—keep on nodding and shaking your head and answering, Stebbins—and I must ask you both to give me your closest attention. But you must not look at me, either of you. Keep your eyes fixed on Stebbins, as if you were vitally interested in the answers he apparently is giving to me."

He drew a long breath—and went swiftly on.

"It is evident that this wandyke beard man has trailers of his own in the station here, but he cannot have many. Quick! All of you change places! Stebbins, put your back against this pillar, and we three will wheel around facing you. 'Mr. K.,' watch for a man who will change his position also so that he can watch my lips, and you keep changing yours so as to shield them. You also will be able to point out the man to Stebbins."

Changes

We made the changes as unobtrusively as possible, and, as he had predicted, a nondescript-looking man emerged from the group where he had been standing and made his way with apparent aimlessness to a place back, and a little to one side, of the pillar, a perfect vantage ground from which to watch my father's lips.

"I don't believe I'll be able to shield you, sir," "Mr. K." said. "He's too near. But I don't believe he has read anything from your lips before. I've had my eye on him—he was craning his neck around the man in front of him—but the crowd kept shifting and I'm sure he got nothing worthwhile."

"Then we'll do this," my father decided, stepping quickly away from us and taking up a stand close beside Stebbins with his back against the pillar. "As long as he knows our identity, it doesn't matter how queer our actions look. You and my daughter will please stand as closely as possible to us, facing us. Nobody will be able to read my lips then, and all three of you will be able to hear what I have to say."

Extends Hand

We moved closer to him, and he extended his hand toward Stebbins.

"Let's have that message now," he said, and as the man handed it over, he turned to me.

"I know you will excuse me, Margaret," he said, "if I read this first, and let 'Mr. K.' see it before I give it to you, even if it is intended for you. But time is precious just now."

"Whatever you wish, of course," I said, with outward docility, but I remembered what Lillian had said about the pains of the curiosity-slain cat, and heaved a sympathetic sigh in her direction.

It seemed eons, although it was but a minute or two, before my father had scanned the message twice, and passed it over to "Mr. K."

"You had better keep it, after my daughter has read it," he said. "You may want it for identification of handwriting or something. Margaret, when 'Mr. K.' gives you the message, will you please memorize it before giving it back to him?"

I nodded, and "possessed my soul in patience" until the F.B.I. man extended the message to me. Then I stared with amazement at the script which, I realized that a seven-year-old, would have insulted the mush.

"Written with the left hand of a right-handed man," "Mr. K." said. "Clever trick at that!"

The note had no salutation, nor yet a signature, but began abruptly:

"You thought you could fool me, but no woman ever has done that, or ever will. I know you will not betray me to the law, for you are probably as deep in this as are your double-crossing friends who left your house this morning. As for your trailer, I gather him at once, and am sending him back to you with this. I am not to be trailed when I do not wish to be. But if you do not bring back to me the thing I want, and which your double-crossing friend has, look out for your pretty neck. I should enjoy slowly pressing it, and watching your eyes as I work. I give you two days."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The Sprained Ankle

Modern experience with ankle sprains confirms what I learned on the subject from an old Scotch surgeon nearly forty years ago. The only improvement on the methods he used is the injection of a local anaesthetic—procaine—into the injured ligaments.

In my youth during my novitiate in medicine it was a common saying that a sprain was worse than a fracture. The basis of this was that a sprain kept the victim in bed longer than a fracture, and the limping lasted longer.

It didn't seem to make sense that a sprain, which is just a stretching and possibly tearing of the ligaments around the ankle, could be worse than a fracture which is a break in the bone, but such sayings as quoted above have a way of being solemnly repeated, so they acquire the air of wisdom and authority.

What my Scotch surgical chief found out was that it wasn't the injury itself but the treatment of sprains then prevalent that made a sprain worse than a fracture. The practice was to put the sprained ankle in a plaster cast and keep it and its owner in bed for at least six weeks. Then when the cast was cut off, the amount of walking was very strictly limited. Later on a heavy bandaging with adhesive was substituted for the plaster cast, but the bed rest was still enjoined.

The Scotch surgeon found an obscure item in an English medical journal that some wilful boys with sprained ankles to which adhesive plaster had been applied had disobeyed the injunctions to stay in bed and had sneaked out and played tennis and that far from making their ankles worse they were completely well and tore the adhersive plaster off at the end of 10 days and had the unblushing nerve to go about their business with nary a limp from then on.

It is to those disobedient boys that the modern ankle sprain owes its rapid recovery.

Of course the first step in treating an ankle sprain by modern methods is to have an X-ray and be perfectly certain that it is a sprain and not a fracture. And then go ahead.

A convincing report on over 200 ankle spralns is that of Lieut.-Commander Paul E. McMaster, of the Medical Corps of the Navy. One group of his patients he straped with adhesive tape and sent immediately to duty. One group was treated by rest in bed with cold and later hot applications to reduce pain and swelling. Another group was given only an elastic bandage support and sent to duty.

All of these groups had about the same results. The period of disability never lasted more than a few days and the amount of pain and limping was never troublesome.

The best results were seen in still another group which had the procaine injection around the sore ligaments. The tenderest spots were selected for the injection. The procaine relieved the pain instantly and the subject was ordered to move around on the foot immediately. The relief of pain was really the great help and probably the reason this group did so much better than any of the others. "Disability", to quote the report, "was entirely absent in many and rarely lasted over twenty-four hours in the others."

The treatment applies to sprains in other joints, such as the knee, also. In fact to contusions in general.

What the exercise does to the sprain is to keep the circulation going about small clots which might otherwise turn into scar tissues and overcome muscle spasm.

Marion Leatherneck Helps Hoist Flag on Saipan Island

Pfc. Robert J. Lehman, 21, of Marion, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lenman of Lima was a member of a color guard which hoisted Old Glory to the top of the highest flagpole left standing on the northernmost tip of Saipan Island at 12:30 p. m., July 9, according to word from the U. S. Marine corps division office in Cleveland.

The flag was hoisted even as our troops were mopping up remaining Japanese resistance in the neighborhood of Marpi airstrip. The flag was that of a regiment of the Fourth Marine Division and its raising preceded by several hours the official ceremony marking "securing" of the island.

The flag raising was impressive mainly because there was so little ceremony. There was no band. There was no boisterous cheering. Busily engaged in ferreting out, or driving the last of the Japs into the sea, few of the hundreds of Marines in the vicinity even had the opportunity to pause and watch as the colors rose and hung limply for a moment, then spread out majestically in the slight breeze which made a scorching sun slightly more bearable.

Pfc. Lehman lived with his brother, Howard at 231 Pearl street before entering the service.
